Niko and Eleni's magical journey resumes in ancient Athens – before it was called Athens, that is. In this book, the children must help the goddess Athena win a contest against the god Poseidon. Whoever wins the favor of the city's citizens and Cecrops, the mythical half-man/half-snake king, will earn the honor of naming the city!

The curriculum reinforces grammar from previous levels and includes an introduction of the following: the simple subjunctive and simple imperative cases of both regular and irregular verbs; the genitive case and conjugation of nouns; the accusative form of nouns and their preceding prepositions; new adjectives, adjective comparisons, and the adjective plural form; indefinite and demonstrative pronouns; and personal pronouns in the accusative form. Additionally, Level 4 reviews simple past and future tenses of regular/irregular verbs while also introducing the future continuous tense.

The curriculum reinforces grammar from previous levels, including an introduction of the following concepts: past continuous and present perfect tenses; declension on new nouns. Simple Imperative introduces irregular verbs, their negative form, and their conjunction with the weak configuration of personal pronouns. Furthermore, it explores new kinds of adjectives and their declension (quantifiers, nationalities, numbers, and comparative). The curriculum embraces new adverbs, adverbial clauses, and indefinite, possessive, and relative pronouns. Finally, Level 5 reviews Simple Imperative; while also introducing the declension of new nouns and adjectives.
